

INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION IN ISRAEL

(excluding Teacher Training Colleges)

A permit from the Council for Higher Education is by law the first requirement for opening or operating an institution of higher education. The second stage is accreditation, the third, authorization to award degrees. Institutions that are not universities are authorized to award only the bachelor's degree.

(1) after the name of the institution indicates that it has a permit but is not yet accredited.

(2) indicates that the institution is accredited but is not yet authorized to award degrees.

(3) indicates that the institution is accredited and authorized to award degrees.

(B) indicates the institution is authorized to award only the bachelor's degree.
